These links are provided for informational purposes only. University of Nevada Cooperative Extension does not guarantee the accuracy or completeness of the information which the listed sites may contain nor does University of Nevada Cooperative Extension endorse any products or services these sites may provide or advocate.

There are many publications and resources available to learn how to judge poultry. However, it seems there is only limited number of websites that provide opportunities in this field. The few items that were located are listed below.

http://www.amerpoultryassn.com

http://www.animal.ufl.edu/youth/poultry/practiceindex.htm

http://www.poultryscience.uark.edu/Judging/index.html

National Poultry Judging Manual, available from University of Nebraska (and elsewhere)