Field Dressing Techniques, Practices & Conservation for Nevada Hunters
Wolf Pack Meats
Wolf Pack Meats is a meat processing facility, operating under federal inspection, which serves multiple purposes within the University of Nevada, Reno College of Agriculture, Biotechnology and Natural Resources (CABNR). The first priority of Wolf Pack Meats’ is to serve as an educational facility where students can gain knowledge of multiple facets of the meat industry.

NDOW
The Nevada Department of Wildlife’s (NDOW) Hunter Education program offers both basic and advanced Hunter Education courses. Anyone born after January 1, 1960 is required to provide proof of Hunter Education in order to purchase a Nevada hunting license and NDOW’s basic course fulfills that requirement.

NDOW’s advanced Hunter Education courses cover a diverse range of topics from basic firearms use (rifle, shotgun, muzzleloader) to big game tag application procedures, pronghorn hunting and wild game care and cooking. NDOW also offers an array of Archery Education (basic archery, bow-hunting, arrow building, bow tuning, etc.) and a range of Angler Education classes too.

Angler, Archery and Hunter Education classes are offered year-round throughout Nevada. Go to www.ndow.org for more information and to register for classes.

About This Class
The University of Nevada, Reno College of Agriculture, Biotechnology and Natural Resources and University of Nevada Cooperative Extension are collaborating with the Nevada Department of Wildlife to provide education to Nevada hunters. Classes will focus on field dressing techniques, practices and conservation.

The Wolf Pack Meats facility will be utilized to provide education on breaking down carcasses and the different types of cuts available from game animals. Each class is limited to 15 participants due to the size of the Wolf Pack Meats facility.

For further information, contact:
Jennifer Kintz, Registration Coordinator, Kintzj@unce.unr.edu — Phone: 775-945-3444, Ext. 12
Cost: $110.00 per person. Includes lunch and handout materials.
